

aboutMYmortgage.com® Announces New Partnership with Hope LoanPort® to Help Homeowners with Loan Modifications

aboutMYmortgage.com® (AMM) announced a new partnership with Hope LoanPort® (HLP) to assist homeowners with mortgage questions and receive help resolving mortgage delinquencies.

AMM will refer homeowners who may need a loan modification to HLP for assistance. AMM provides a direct link (<https://aboutmymortgage.com/hlp/>) from its Loan Modification landing page to HLP's Homeowner Connect site, where a homeowner can get advice from a nonprofit housing counselor and submit a foreclosure alternative package directly to their mortgage servicer. This new arrangement will help consumers better understand their options and work with their servicer to get the help they need.

Founded in 2009, HLP has become a go-to technology platform for national mortgage assistance programs and has been used by the top 6 commercial banks, GSEs, the nation's largest servicers and 1,100+ counseling agencies to help more than 700,000 families achieve and sustain homeownership. HLP's Homeowner Connect platform is powered by IndiSoft's RxOffice technology.

"This pioneering partnership with HLP expands aboutMYmortgage.com's mission to empower homeowners to make informed mortgage decisions," said Tim Allen, CEO and founder of aboutMYmortgage.com®. "Our vision is that one day all borrowers who are considering financing will be provided an opportunity to discuss financing solutions with their current mortgage servicer. aboutMYmortgage.com's mission is to help homeowners make better financing decisions by being the direct gateway to obtain factual information and guidance from customer care specialists at their mortgage servicer. And most importantly, our service is FREE to homeowners."
